1. About Us

Adopters for Adoption is a national voluntary adoption agency (VAA) that was founded in 2014. It was set up by people with first-hand experience of adoption to improve the way adopters are recruited, prepared, assessed and supported.

Our aim is not just to find homes for children or children for adopters, but to create loving, stable, and well-supported families that thrive. We do this by putting both children and prospective adopters at the centre of our thinking.

Our commitment to children waiting for an adoptive family is to deliver the best possible outcomes and reduce delays in the adoption process. Our agency is also dedicated to making adoption a positive, timely experience for prospective adopters and providing valuable, effective adoption support to adoptive parents and their children.

We believe many potential adopters rule themselves out, even before applying. There are many misconceptions about who can adopt; it is our job to challenge those misconceptions and encourage applications from a wide range of people.

At Adopters for Adoption we work closely as a team, calling on each other for support and guidance to offer our prospective adopters the best possible experience. We have members of the team who have experienced adoption either as adoptive parents or as adopted people that offer a unique insight into adoption.

We are a friendly, approachable and trustworthy team that treats all prospective adopters with respect and kindness.

Adopters for Adoption is a part of the Polaris Community, one of the UK's largest leading communities of children's service providers.

“Prospective Adopters are not discriminated against because of any specific individual characteristics. For example, there are older adopters, single adopters and adopters in same-sex relationships.”

Ofsted, 2018 Inspection

2. Agency Values

Our values are a set of beliefs that guide us and motivate us. These values help us to keep heading in the right direction and influence the actions we take. As a voluntary adoption agency, our values are underpinned by the Adoption National Minimum Standards (2014).

At Adopters for Adoptions we believe:

- The safety, needs and welfare of the child should be at the center of the adoption process. Whilst we aim to be an inclusive agency and rule adopters in rather than out, the safety, needs, and welfare of the child are at the forefront of any decisions we make.
- Every adopted child should have an enjoyable childhood leading to a successful adult life. They should benefit from excellent parenting and education and should have a wide range of opportunities to develop their talents and skills.
- Every adopted child deserves a loving family that can meet their developmental needs throughout their life.
- The wishes and feelings of the child are important and will be actively sought and taken into account at all stages of the adoption process.
- Delays can have a severe impact on the health and development of children awaiting adoption so should be minimised or avoided altogether.
- Every child should have a sense of identity. To help them develop their sense of identity we will recognise, value, and positively promote their ethnic origin, cultural background, religion, language and sexuality.
- The particular needs of disabled children and children with complex needs should be fully recognised and taken into consideration.
- The child, birth parent(s) or guardians, birth families, adoptive parent(s) and adoptive families should be treated with respect and should feel valued.
- The best outcomes for children are achieved when there is a partnership between all those involved in adoption including the government, local authorities and statutory agencies.

9. The Adoption Process

Initial Enquiry

At Adopters for Adoption we want to find suitable families for children who, for a range of reasons, cannot live with their birth families and know from personal experience how rewarding it can be. Rather than presenting unnecessary barriers, we want to encourage prospective adopters to take that first step and are ready and waiting to answer any questions to help enquirers find out if adoption is right for them.

Having originally been set up by trustees who had personal experience of adoption, we really do appreciate how difficult it can be for many people to make their first enquiry into adoption. For some, it has taken a long time to reach this point and it can require a lot of courage to take that first step, for others it can seem overwhelming or confusing. That's why we've tried to make it as easy as possible for prospective adopters to access the information they might need.

People interested in adoption can gain further information from our website, or by getting in touch with our enquiries team. They can access our detailed information pack, sign up for our bi-monthly online information events and submit an enquiry via the website. Alternatively, they can get in touch with us by telephone or email. Our friendly team will respond within 10 working days with further resources and invite enquirers to attend one of our upcoming information events.

If the enquirer(s) is happy with all the information and wish to proceed, they can apply to become an adopter with Adopters for Adoption. They can do this by requesting a registration of interest form (ROI). This will be sent to them electronically to be completed on their smart device, laptop, or computer or can be posted out on request.

Stage One

Upon receiving the completed registration of interest and signed consent form, one of our team managers will give the prospective adopter(s) a call to go through the details and explain the next steps.

After accepting the registration of interest form (ROI), we will invite the prospective adopters to start stage one of the process. We will then set about seeking the relevant checks and references that are required, allocate a social worker, and will agree on a date for the prospective adopter(s) to complete the Preparation to Adopt training.

There are a number of checks and references required when applying to adopt and it can seem intrusive but our team will be happy to explain the reasoning behind each of the checks and references if required. Our team will obtain the relevant checks and references on behalf of the prospective adopter(s), although they may at times require assistance from the prospective adopter(s).

Prospective adopter(s) will be notified when their social worker has been allocated and will be provided with their social worker's details as well as information on how to prepare for their first visit. The allocated social worker will be in touch within 7 working days to introduce themselves and arrange a date for the first visit. The social worker will visit 2-3 times during stage one.

The prospective adopter(s) will also be booked on to the three-day Preparation to Adopt training, which takes place each month and provides the prospective adopter(s) with the knowledge and skills needed to assist them on their adoption journey.

During stage one, the prospective adopter(s) will also be required to complete a medical assessment with their GP.

They will also be given various information guides, booklets, and documents to assist them with the adoption process.

The aim is to complete stage one of the process within 2 months of accepting the applicant's ROI form. Our team will carry out regular progress reviews to encourage the completion of stage one within the given timeframe. However, we will always move at a pace that is right for the prospective adopter(s).

At the end of stage one, a report will be produced by the social worker on the prospective adopter(s)'s suitability to adopt. This will be reviewed by a team manager at Adopters for Adoption and a decision will be made on whether to invite the prospective adopter(s) to proceed to stage two of the process. The prospective adopter(s) will be notified in writing of the decision made. If the decision is made not to invite them to stage two, they will be given the reasons why and recommendations on how to strengthen their application.

It is at this point in the process, between stages one and two, that the prospective adopter(s) can choose to take a break of up to six months, without having to start the process again.

Stage Two

Stage two commences when Adopters for Adoption receives confirmation of the prospective adopter(s)'s decision to proceed. The aim is to complete stage two within 4 months. If the prospective adopters have opted to take a break we will ask them to provide a date for when they would like to recommence the process.

The social worker will contact the prospective adopter(s) to arrange a preliminary visit to discuss the outcomes from stage one and identify areas to work on for stage two. There will be approximately 5-7 visits from the social worker during stage two. The social worker will also visit 3 of the prospective adopter(s)'s referees at this stage, two friends and one family referee.

During stage two the allocated social worker will prepare a prospective adopters report (PAR) to be presented to the adoption panel and a date for the panel will be confirmed. The PAR is a detailed report that covers life experiences, family background, relationships, current circumstances, lifestyle and motivations to adopt.

Further training will also be undertaken by the prospective adopter(s) during this stage. This will include a two-day preparation to adopt course, which covers areas such as matching, introductions and life story work. There will also be training opportunities for friends and family members of the prospective adopter(s) to learn how to support them and their adopted child(ren).

Once the social worker has completed the PAR, at the end of stage two, it will be reviewed by a principle social worker and quality assured by a team manager at Adopters for Adoption. The PAR will then be sent to the prospective adopters to review and sign.

The prospective adopters and their social worker are invited to attend the adoption panel where the PAR is presented to the adoption panel who take all of the information into account before making their recommendation. The panel chair informs the prospective adopter(s) of their recommendation on the day and makes a formal recommendation about their suitability to adopt to the agency decision maker. The agency decision maker will make the final decision within 7 working days. The prospective adopters(s) is informed of the decision verbally, within 2 working days and receive a letter of confirmation within 5 working days.

Following a positive recommendation from panel, the prospective adopter(s) will meet with the adoption placements manager who will provide them with further information on linking and matching and will assist them with family finding.

In the unlikely event that panel concludes that they do not have sufficient information in order to reach a recommendation, they would make clear what information is required in order to reach a recommendation and a new panel date would be scheduled.

If for any reason the panel were to recommend that the prospective adopter(s) is not suitable to adopt they would be provided with the reasons why and would be informed of their right to appeal or to make representations to the Independent Review Mechanism (IRM).

Family Finding

Following approval, the prospective adopter(s) meet with our adoption placements manager to start identifying the children that would be best suited to them and to find out more about these children and their backgrounds. This is typically done through the placement service Link Maker but there are also activity days that provide opportunities to meet children waiting to be adopted and exchange days that involve meeting with social workers to discuss the profiles of children waiting to be adopted.

The prospective adopter(s) are encouraged to join Link Maker and create a profile for themselves which will allow the children's social workers to find out more about them and contact them if they think they would be a good match for a child they are supporting. The prospective adopter(s) will also be able to view children's profiles on Link Maker and express an interest in the children that they believe might be a good match for them.

This can be a difficult part of the process to come to terms with as typically this is when the prospective adopter(s) see the profiles and faces of the children waiting to be adopted and details of why they need adopting for the first time. However, their social worker and the adoption placements manager are always on hand to offer support and guidance.

Once a potential match has been identified and information has been shared, the child(ren)'s social worker will usually meet with the prospective adopter(s) and their social worker to find out further information and to decide whether to proceed.

When a link has been made between the prospective adopter(s) and the child(ren), then they will be invited to attend another panel with the local authority who currently has care of the child(ren). If the decision is made by the local authority panel to proceed then a plan for introductions between the child(ren) and the prospective adopter(s) will be made.

The introductions are arranged to suit the child(ren)'s individual needs and will involve the prospective adopter(s) getting to know the child(ren) where they are currently living (typically with foster carers), before transitioning them to their new home.

We are experienced in placing children from all over the UK with families throughout the UK and will offer extensive support during the introductions and the early weeks of the placement. Typically the introductions will take place over a few weeks but every child responds differently and we will move at their pace.

Adoption Support

Adoption Support is provided from the day of placement and is designed to help families and children settle in, get to know each other better and begin forming close attachments to one another. Extensive support is provided during the introductory period and early weeks of placement. Support continues to be provided at a level and frequency in accordance with assessed and agreed needs. The adopter(s) will receive regular visits from their social worker and the local authority social worker for their child(ren), as well as regular reviews which are carried out by the local authority to check on the progress of the adoption placement.

In situations where a placement is not going well and is at risk of disruption, we will do everything we can to support those involved. We never underestimate the impact that a breakdown of placement can have on the child(ren), the adoptive family, and their wider support networks, so we encourage our families to consider this only as a last resort. In very rare circumstances when a placement sadly does come to an end, we will endeavour to support all parties involved.

The aim of adoption is to provide a child with a permanent family, with parents who hold full parental responsibility. Eventually, when our adopters feel ready, we support them to make an application to the court to adopt. A report is prepared for the court where a Judge has the authority to grant an Adoption Order. An adoption certificate is provided shortly after the court hearing that replaces the child(ren)'s birth certificate. An Adoption Order is an irrevocable order, providing adopters with full parental responsibility.

Adoption Support remains available to our adopters for as long as they want or need it. After the Adoption Order is granted it is made available at their request. We encourage our adopters to keep in touch with us and to continue attending training, support groups, and social activities. Unless we receive a request not to, we will continue to send regular newsletters and invitations to all of our families. Many of our adopters enjoy returning to speak to other adopters about their experiences, getting involved in activities or helping us to promote the services that we offer.

10. Monitoring and Evaluation

There are a number of processes and procedures in place to continually monitor and evaluate the services we provide to ensure that they are effective and of a high standard. This includes regular feedback, scheduled reviews, observations and inspections.

Feedback

- Written feedback is requested from prospective adopters at various key points in the process including after attending an information event, making an enquiry, completing stage 1, completing stage 2, attending adoption panel, attending training courses, family finding and accessing adoption support.
- Feedback is also obtained from staff, independent social workers, panel members and observers throughout the various stages of the adoption process.
- Regular team meetings are held for members of staff to give feedback.
- Any feedback by and to panel members is shared with them on a monthly basis in the form of a snapshot.
- Any feedback relating to individuals is discussed with them as part of their appraisal process.
- Any compliments and complaints received are presented at the monthly board meeting and discussed during team meetings to identify areas for improvement.
- Quarterly meetings are held with independent social workers to share any procedure and policy updates, discuss practice issues and obtain feedback and suggestions.

Recording and reviewing

- All records kept are regularly monitored by the managers to ensure compliance with the agency's policies and to identify any concerns, patterns or trends.
- Timescales between actions in the adoption process are measured and reported on in the monthly board meeting.
- Any reasons for withdrawal from the adoption process are recorded and evaluated.
- The agency maintains a record of all notifiable and critical incidents as well as complaints and compliments received. These are discussed at the monthly board meeting.

- There is an annual review process in place for prospective adopters that have not had a child placed with them or where there have been significant changes in circumstances since approval. The review will identify if any checks (such as medicals and DBS) are still valid, if there have been any changes in circumstances, if contact and support from the agency had been sufficient and if there are any areas for improvement.
- A biannual adoption panel review report is issued by the panel chair evaluating the effectiveness of the panel and reflecting on the feedback.
- A panel review meeting takes place quarterly.
- A review of the performance of all central list and panel members takes place annually.
- An annual business review and development plan is produced and shared with team members.
- A service improvement plan is produced annually and reviewed monthly.
- The statement of purpose is reviewed annually and updated in line with any service improvements.
- Weekly management meetings are held in which feedback, compliments and complaints are discussed.
- Staff supervisions are carried out on a monthly basis.
- A Board of Directors oversees the governance of Adopters for Adoption. The Board holds quarterly meetings to review management information including risk logs, financial information, service activity and progress towards outcomes. This enables them to monitor performance against targets and take corrective action, where required.

Observations and inspections

- Any work carried out by independent social workers will be overseen by a principle social worker or team manager at Adopters for Adoption.
- The head of service, responsible individual and agency decision maker regularly observe the adoption panel.
- Any new panel members and agency staff are invited to observe the adoption panel.
- The services provided by Adopters for Adoption are regulated by Ofsted and an inspection is carried out approximately every 3 years.

11. Comments, compliments and complaints

As an agency, we are always keen to improve the services we offer and welcome any comments and feedback on our agency and its services. There are several stages in the adoption process in which we request written feedback. However, we would encourage feedback and comments whenever possible and in a way that feels most comfortable to the individual. We value all feedback and will use this to improve our services. Please be assured that no person will be subject to any reprisal, neither will the service they receive be reduced, as a result of any comments or feedback they make.

Complaints may be made about any person who completes work on behalf of the agency, about the services provided, or about a failure to provide services that are reasonably expected. Please be assured that no person will be subject to any reprisal, and neither will the service they receive be reduced, as a result of making a complaint. We have a three-stage complaints process to ensure complaints are dealt with promptly and effectively.

Stage One
Informal Problem Solving

Stage Two
Independent Investigation

Stage Three
Review by a Senior Leader

Stage one – Informal problem solving

All complaints will be recorded to monitor, evaluate and improve the quality of our services. In the first instance, a team member will work with the complainant in an attempt to resolve the complaint promptly and with fairness. The head of service is made aware of all complaints both informal and formal.

The majority of complaints are resolved at this stage. However, if the complainant does not feel that the complaint has been fully resolved, they can request for it to be escalated to the next stage by responding to any letters they have received regarding the complaint or by contacting the complaints manager at Polaris on 01527 556480 or emailing contactus@polariscommunity.co.uk.

Stage two – Independent investigation

At this stage, the complaint will be passed to an independent investigator who has had no previous involvement with the complaint. This could be a member of the quality assurance team within Polaris or an external individual with relevant qualifications and experience. Any such appointment will be discussed with all parties, including the complainant, before the investigation begins.

The independent investigator will speak to the complainant in order to fully understand the complaint, will interview other people concerned, and will seek permissions to access any relevant paperwork relating to the complaint. A report detailing the independent investigator's findings and recommendations will be produced for the Polaris complaints manager.

The complaints manager will then write to the complainant to let them know the outcome and decisions made. If at this stage, the complainant still feels that the complaint has not been resolved, they can request that a complaints review panel be set up to consider the investigation and its findings.

Stage three – Review by a Senior Leader

If the complainant continues to feel that their complaint has not been dealt with to their satisfaction, Stage 3 may be implemented.

The complainant should inform the Head of Service preferably in writing, that they wish to progress their complaint to Stage 3, within 20 working days of receipt of written confirmation of the outcome of Stage 2, providing reasons why they are not satisfied with the outcome of Stage 2 of the procedure.

The Head of Service will acknowledge this request within 10 working days, with an explanation of the Stage 3 process. The Head of Service will notify the Chief Executive Officer, Managing Director, and Responsible Individual in writing of the complaint.

A Senior Leader will review the Complaint within 20 working days. The complainant will need to be kept informed by the Head Of Service of any delays in responding to the complaint should more time be required by the Senior Leader to consider the information provided.

The Senior Leader reviewing the complaint will complete a written report of their findings, which will include:

- The process and adequacy of the investigation prior to Stage 3;
- Findings on each of the complaints being investigated;
- Conclusions / outcomes reached;
- Recommendations of actions required / learning outcomes to be considered.

Following completion of the review by the Senior Leader, the Registered Manager/Head of Service will inform the complainant.

This is the final stage of our agency's representations and complaints procedure. If having been through our complaints process, the complainant still feel dissatisfied then they can contact our regulator, Ofsted. Ofsted investigates concerns to make sure that we as a registered agency continue to meet the National Minimum Standards and associated regulations and remain suitable for registration.
